NURSES ARE INDIVIDUALS; NURSING IS UNIVERSAL

Nurses are women and men who represent every combination and permutation of the world's population - every race, every ethnic group - and they are all committed to improving health and well-being. Every nurse clinician, educator, administrator, and consultant enhances the profession's ability to make a difference in the world.

Every nurse is different, but all nurses are the same - united in the shared purpose of improving the human condition.

No one said that being a nurse was easy, but every nurse will say that being a nurse is rewarding.

Nursing Covers All Bases

Nurses practice in every setting imaginable. Outside of the traditional healthcare arena, nurses provide care everywhere... in large companies, factories, schools, summer camps, and cruise ships. No other profession has so many options for practice.

Book Excerpt

Against the World

"Intro to Nursing should be interesting today," Leslie said, "I never thought about joining the military as a nurse."

"Who would want to do that?" Frannie blurted. "You'd never get to see your husband and what woman would want to go to Vietnam anyway? And those drab uniforms are just awful; you can't accessorize anything."

"Frannie, that's not the point. The fantastic thing about a nursing career is that there are gobs of options and serving our country as a nurse is a great choice."
