Labor Day Insight

Sometimes getting a job depends upon the willingness to exceed an employer's expectations.

Book Excerpt

Against the World

I want to put my best foot forward and be as open and honest as I can. I want this job and I am looking to learn as much as possible over the summer to help myself and the store be successful. I will do what you ask of me and demonstrate reliability. Mr. Davis taught me the value of a flexible staff and I am willing to work where and when you need me.
